WALDEN UNIVERSITY
A higher degree. A higher purpose.
For 45 years, Walden University, an accredited institution, has been serving the higher education needs of working professionals by providing quality distance education. As a Walden student, you can benefit from:

- An online learning environment rich in diverse perspectives and experiences.
- Relevant programs that provide knowledge and skills you can use immediately to excel in your field.
- An array of student resources and services tailored to your individual needs.
- The flexibility to balance your educational goals with your personal and professional commitments.

Walden University is accredited by The Higher Learning Commission, www.ncahlc.org. Walden University is accredited by the National Council for Accreditation of Teacher Education (NCATE). This accreditation covers initial teacher preparation programs and advanced educator preparation programs. As a recognized standard of excellence in professional education for the preparation of teachers, administrators, and other pre-K-12 school professionals, NCATE accreditation ensures that the institution has met rigorous national standards set by the profession and members of the public. However, the accreditation does not include individual education courses offered to pre-K-12 educators for professional development, relicensure, or other purposes.

Walden University’s DNP, MSN, and BSN programs are accredited by the Commission on Collegiate Nursing Education (CCNE). One Dupont Circle, NW Suite 530, Washington, D.C. 20036, 1-202-887-6791. CCNE is a national accrediting agency recognized by the U.S. Department of Education and ensures the quality and integrity of baccalaureate and graduate education programs in preparing effective nurses. For students, accreditation signifies program innovation and continuous self-assessment.

Walden University’s PhD in Counseling Education and Supervision; MS in Marriage, Couples, and Family Counseling; and MS in Clinical Mental Health Counseling programs are accredited by the Council for Accreditation of Counseling and Related Educational Programs (CACREP), a specialized accrediting body recognized by the Council for Higher Education Accreditation (CHEA), which is a requirement for licensure in many states. The MS in Clinical Mental Health Counseling is accredited as a mental health counseling program under the 2001 standards.

Walden University’s BS in Business Administration, Master of Business Administration (MBA), Doctor of Business Administration (DBA), and PhD in Management programs are accredited by the Accreditation Council for Business Schools and Programs (ACBSP). The MS in Accounting and BS in Accounting programs are also accredited by the ACBSP and have earned the organization’s Specialized Accounting Accreditation. Walden University’s MS in Project Management program is accredited by the Project Management Institute’s (PMI)® Global Accreditation Center for Project Management Education Programs (GAC). PMI GAC accreditation is the gold standard for excellence in project management education, affirming that Walden’s curriculum meets rigorous quality standards established by the GAC.

Walden’s BS in Information Technology is one of only a few online programs accredited by ABET, the internationally recognized accreditor for college and university programs in applied science, computing, engineering, and engineering technology. This accreditation reaffirms the quality of Walden’s information systems and technology programs and support services as well as its commitment to continuous assessment and improvement.

Walden University practices a policy of nondiscrimination in admission to, access to, and employment in its programs and activities. Walden does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, sex, age, religion or creed, marital status, disability, national or ethnic origin, socioeconomic status, sexual orientation, or other legally protected status.

Walden is committed to providing barrier-free access to its educational services and makes appropriate and reasonable accommodations when necessary. Students requesting accommodations per the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) must contact the Office of Disability Services at disability@waldenu.edu.

This publication represents current curricula, educational plans, offerings, requirements, tuition, and fees. These may be modified or discontinued from time to time at the university’s sole discretion to carry out the university’s purposes and objectives. Neither the provisions of this document nor the acceptance of students through registration and enrollment in the university, constitutes a contract or an offer of a contract.

Walden offers both state-approved educator licensure programs as well as programs and courses that do not lead to licensure or endorsements. Prospective students must review their state licensure requirements prior to enrolling. For more information, please refer to www.WaldenU.edu/educlicensure.

Prospective Alabama students: Contact the Teacher Education and Certification Division of the Alabama State Department of Education at 1-334-242-9935 or www.alsde.edu to verify that these programs qualify for teacher certification, endorsement, and/or salary benefits.

Prospective Washington state students are advised to contact the Office of the Superintendent of Public Instruction at 1-360-725-6275 or pro.edu@Olympia.wa.us to determine whether Walden’s programs in the field of education are approved for teacher certification or endorsements in Washington state. Additionally, teachers are advised to contact their individual school district as to whether this program may qualify for salary advancement.

“Walden encouraged me to pursue my passion…”

“I’ve worked in law enforcement and as a high school teacher. I’ve also worked in emergency disaster response. Now I want to make policy based on my experiences and bridge the worlds of public service and emergency response. Walden’s MPA will help me do that. Walden encouraged me to pursue my passion and to effect social change at a higher level.”

Enhanced Learning Through Technology
Online learning requires you to be self-directed, but you won’t be isolated at Walden. We have mastered the use of technology to provide you with a vibrant learning community through access to such advancements as:

MobileLearn®
MobileLearn lets you choose where, when, and even how you learn. Gain direct access to course content using your laptop, smartphone, or other handheld device to download videos, field-experience simulations, texts, lectures, and other course content. By enabling you to access coursework online, offline, or on the go, MobileLearn gives you the flexibility to choose the format that best matches your learning style.

Virtual Field Experience (VFE®)
Learn best practices through Virtual Field Experience (VFE®). Available in select courses, VFE® enables you to observe professionals at work, including teachers managing their classrooms or psychologists counseling patients.

Convenient Access
Walden offers an engaging online learning model that is designed to fit your busy schedule, which means you can participate in classes on a weekly basis whenever it’s convenient for you. A single, password-protected location—myWalden—connects you to your classroom, course syllabus, grades, registration, financial records, and student support services.

View a classroom demo at www.WaldenU.edu/classroomdemo.

SUCCESSFUL ONLINE LEARNING
Even with basic computer skills, you can learn successfully online. Walden’s self-paced, online Student Readiness Orientation introduces you to online learning and helps you gain confidence. This virtual orientation is your first opportunity to interact with our Student Support Team, whose services include technical assistance. Learn more by calling an enrollment advisor at 1-866-492-5336.

A Commitment to Social Change
Learning That Helps You Make a Difference

At Walden, we believe that knowledge is most valuable when used for the greater good. Our program curricula go beyond core professional knowledge to include courses covering social awareness, responsibility, civic engagement, and cross-cultural competence.

Walden Scholars of Change

Carol Zoffinger, a PhD in Human Services student, founded the nonprofit organization Zoe’s Journey to help mothers rebuild their lives after addiction, incarceration, or homelessness.

Dr. Heather Hefner, a PhD in Psychology graduate, partners with Refuge, an after-school program run primarily by volunteers, to provide mental health support for at-risk youth.

Benjamin Isaac, a Doctor of Education (EdD) student, is making a difference by creating an animated show to positively impact and inspire children with special needs.

Jazmin Chi-Aguillon, a BS in Business Administration graduate, founded LevGrow, an organization that improves education for children by transforming how they learn culture and values through stories, games, interactive toys, and animated videos.

Learn more online at www.WaldenU.edu/about/social-change/scholars-of-change.

Preparing Community Leaders

Early in your program, you will articulate your social change goals, and then, throughout your coursework, you’ll be asked to demonstrate your evolution toward becoming a social change agent. The goal is to help you develop into an effective leader who will make meaningful contributions to your community.

Bringing Our Mission to Life

We also help to bring our social change mission to life by:

- Hosting renowned speakers and government leaders on topics of social change.
- Conducting research on the state of social change around the world through the Social Change Impact Report.
- Sponsoring and supporting the annual Global Days of Service, in which the Walden community leads and participates in volunteer projects.
- Maintaining the Walden Service Network, an online resource for the Walden community to find volunteer opportunities, recruit volunteers for community service events, and record volunteer hours.

Of the alumni who responded to our 2014 survey, the overwhelming majority—95%—reports that Walden has helped them effect positive social change.

An Education With Impact
Learning That Produces Positive Results

We’re a university that is committed to understanding what you need from your educational experience. One way we assess your needs is by continuously surveying our students and alumni. This provides us with the information we need to continue to improve the learning experience for you. Here’s what students and alumni who responded to our 2013–2014 survey say:

Satisfied Students
At Walden, satisfaction is the norm:
- More than 85% of current Walden students are satisfied or very satisfied with the university, and more than 84% are likely or very likely to recommend Walden to others.
- Alumni satisfaction is high, with 89% of Walden graduates very satisfied or satisfied with their alma mater.

Stronger Skills
Our alumni indicate that their Walden education significantly improved their skills in the following areas:
- Writing
- Qualitative analysis
- Applying academic knowledge to their professional practice

In addition, almost 95% of Walden alumni shared that what they learned at Walden has helped them effect social change. Since Walden alumni have such a strong desire to make a difference, it’s not surprising that they have a 68% average rate of volunteerism, compared with the national average among college graduates of 42%.

Career Results
A Walden education has a professional payoff for alumni:
- 27% of Walden graduates seeking to change professions say their degree helped them do so.
- More than 55% of Walden graduates say they received a pay raise within one year of earning their degrees.
- More than 36% of our graduates say Walden helped them gain a promotion at work.

These results show Walden alumni are prepared to make positive contributions at work.

Walden’s School of Management offers bachelor’s, master’s, and doctoral degree programs that can help you prepare to become an effective leader, manager, and scholar-practitioner. Four of our programs—BS in Business Administration, Master of Business Administration (MBA), Doctor of Business Administration (DBA), and PhD in Management—are accredited by the Accreditation Council for Business Schools and Programs (ACBSP). The MS in Accounting and BS in Accounting programs are also accredited by the ACBSP and have earned the organization’s Specialized Accounting Accreditation.

School of Nursing

In Walden’s School of Nursing, you can choose from a PhD in Nursing program, a CCNE-accredited Doctor of Nursing Practice (DNP) program, a CCNE-accredited master’s program, a CCNE-accredited bachelor’s degree completion program, and post-master’s certificates in nursing that let you access the most current thinking and best practices in your field. School of Nursing faculty members are not only active practitioners in their fields but are also scholars, with 100% of them holding doctoral degrees.
School of Health Sciences
Walden’s School of Health Sciences prepares you to develop the critical and creative thinking skills required to address the health needs of individuals as well as local and global communities through healthcare services, research, and education.

School of Counseling
As a student in the School of Counseling, you have the opportunity to focus on your interests, integrate research with your professional expertise, and enhance your capacity to promote positive social change in the counseling professions. Three of Walden’s counseling programs—PhD in Counselor Education and Supervision; MS in Marriage, Couple, and Family Counseling; and MS in Clinical Mental Health Counseling—are accredited by CACREP.

College of Undergraduate Studies
The College of Undergraduate Studies is the home of Walden’s general education core courses and a range of undergraduate degree programs. The College of Undergraduate Studies is also your link to online support programs that can prepare you for your major and your career.

School of Social Work and Human Services
The School of Social Work and Human Services provides opportunities for adult learners like you who want to take the next step in their careers as professional helpers and change agents. Through our suite of programs and electives, you can discover how to transform yourself as a practitioner, educator, and leader and use evidence-based approaches to help improve the quality of life for those who are in need.

School of Psychology
Online programs in Walden’s School of Psychology incorporate theory and practice to expose you to action-oriented research you can use immediately in your profession. Our programs give you the opportunity to gain the knowledge, skills, and credentials that can help you advance your career, make a difference in the lives of those you serve, and have a positive influence on the human experience throughout the world.

School of Public Policy and Administration
Walden’s School of Public Policy and Administration offers graduate programs that can help you enhance your critical thinking and problem-solving skills; work collaboratively with government, nonprofit, and private organizations; and make a greater difference in the communities you serve.

School of Information Systems and Technology
In Walden’s School of Information Systems and Technology, you can enhance your knowledge of core applications and technology practices. Choose from doctoral, master’s, bachelor’s, and certificate programs that can prepare you to design, develop, and manage key information system initiatives that contribute to your organization’s success. The BS in Information Technology is one of only a few online programs accredited by ABET, the internationally recognized accreditor for college and university programs in applied science, computing, engineering, and engineering technology.

Walden University has been designated by the National Security Agency and the Department of Homeland Security as a National Center of Academic Excellence in Cyber Defense Education through the year 2019.

An Investment in Your Future

Funding Options and How to Get Started

At Walden, we recognize that higher education is a significant investment. We’ll work closely with you to identify financial aid support or other payment options to help fund your education.

Federal Financial Aid
Two-thirds of Walden students receive some form of financial aid.* If you think you might be eligible for federal financial aid, apply by submitting a FAFSA (Free Application for Federal Student Aid) at www.fafsa.ed.gov. Please be sure to include Walden’s Title IV Code (025042) on the form. The review process can take five to eight weeks from the time you apply to receipt of funds, so apply early.

“| I could work as well as pursue the education that I wanted.” |
| “I took advantage of financial aid. And one of the reasons I chose Walden was the flexibility so that I could work as well as pursue the education that I wanted.” |
