WALDEN UNIVERSITY COMMENCEMENT SPEAKER

DR. CYNTHIA J. HICKMAN

Dr. Cynthia J. Hickman is an author, speaker, nurse educator, and caregiver advocate with more than 30 years of experience in nursing and leadership. She retired in 2013 from St. Luke's Episcopal Hospital in Houston, Texas, as an acute-care cardiology case manager to become a full-time caregiver to her mother.

Hickman draws on her experience of being a caregiver in her blog and in her podcast, Your Proactive Caregiver Advocate. She has also written two books on the subject. From the Lens of Daughter, Nurse, and Caregiver: A Daughter's Journey of Duty and Honor is the story of her 20-year journey of caring for her beloved mother, Shibbolethia B. Lewis, who passed away in 2017 at age 97. Hickman's second book, The Black Book of Important Information for Caregivers, was released on August 13, 2021—her mother's birthday. In her blog and podcast, Hickman shares personal stories that encourage others to “just breathe” when caregiving. Her mission is to share with others proactive ways to navigate and avert challenges in the caregiving space.

Hickman received her Bachelor of Science in Nursing (BSN) from Prairie View A&M University College of Nursing and serves as vice president of the college's alumni chapter. She is also a proud Walden Alumni Ambassador. She holds a Master of Science in Nursing (MSN) with a specialization in Nursing Education and a PhD in Health Services with a specialization in Leadership, both from Walden University. Hickman teaches evidence-based practices and community population health to nurses in the BSN program at Capella University.

Hickman sees giving back to the community as both an obligation and a responsibility. In September 2021, Hickman launched a Socks 4 Seniors initiative in Missouri City, Texas, which she intends to become an annual event.

She is also dedicated to empowering the next generation of nurses. In 2006, she received the Johnson & Johnson Community Health Care Leadership Award and $50,000 for assisting displaced victims of Hurricane Katrina in Houston. The funds were used to provide nursing scholarships for hospital employees through the creation of the Cynthia J. Hickman “Pay It Forward” Nursing Scholarship, housed at St. Luke's Episcopal Hospital. The first scholarship was awarded in 2007, and in April 2021, two nursing students were awarded a combined $10,000 through the scholarship.

WALDEN HISTORY

"I learned this, at least, by my experiment: that if one advances confidently in the direction of his dreams, and endeavors to live the life which he has imagined, he will meet with a success unexpected in common hours."

—Henry David Thoreau, Walden (1854)

More than 50 years ago, Bernie and Rita Turner took a bold step that would change higher education in America and, ultimately, beyond. At that point in history, if you were a working professional who wanted to earn an advanced degree, most universities required that you quit your job and move close to their campus. The Turners believed that was unreasonable. And so they set out to create a new kind of university that would expand access to higher education and give more people the knowledge they needed to make a positive impact in the world.

The Turners found a like-minded innovator in Dr. Harold "Bud" Hodgkinson, a faculty member at the University of California, Berkeley, who had published a paper that laid out a new vision for a student-centric university. Titled "Walden U: A Working Paper," Hodgkinson's vision became the philosophical underpinnings of the Turners' new school: Walden University.

Founded in 1970, Walden began with a 1971 summer session in Naples, Florida, that gave working teachers and school administrators the opportunity to finish their doctorates without having to leave their jobs or move. It was a truly unique opportunity, and in 1972, the first Walden students earned their degrees.

The Turners' university was already making a difference. But Walden's development into the school it is today took time and perseverance. The first major step occurred in 1979, when the Minnesota Higher Education Coordinating Board licensed Walden to grant PhDs and EdDs in the state. An official move to Minneapolis quickly followed in 1982, and as the decade progressed, Walden grew. In addition to attending the annual summer sessions, students in the 1980s completed coursework by correspondence, receiving and returning assignments through the U.S. mail. In some courses, faculty and students mailed floppy disks back and forth, allowing coursework to be completed on personal computers. While this form of distance learning seems antiquated today, it was innovative in its time and opened new opportunities for working professionals.

This spirit of innovation also impacted the coursework itself. In 1984, Walden officially integrated social change into the curricula for all programs, formalizing the school's founding mission. In 1987, the university remade its doctoral programs, introducing a new individualized program structure based on the work of renowned American educator Dr. Frederic Hudson. Thanks to these efforts, coupled with the ceaseless drive to offer the highest-quality education, Walden reached the biggest achievement of its early years. In 1990, Walden earned accreditation from The Higher Learning Commission of the North Central Association of Colleges and Schools.

What had begun as a radical idea was now an accredited university. The Turners had realized their dream, and in 1992, they retired, satisfied that Walden was fully established. Of course, a university committed to innovation will always evolve with the times. And that's exactly what Walden continued to do, even after the Turners left.

Under the leadership of Walden's new owner, Don Ackerman, Walden expanded on the Turners' vision, becoming known for its distance-learning curriculum that emphasized a scholar-practitioner philosophy and a commitment to social change. In 1995, the university became known for something more: It was the first U.S. university to offer an online master's in education degree program. The degree was Walden's first master's and its entrance into online education. This wasn't just the next logical step in distance learning; it was a seismic shift that would quickly end the era of postal-based higher education and usher in a huge number of innovations that would change Walden and higher education throughout the world.

While Walden introduced other online programs in the late 1990s, Sylvan Learning Systems' 2001 investment in the university sparked the biggest change, helping Walden complete the shift from a correspondence system of learning to an online system of learning. At the same time, Walden grew into a comprehensive university offering bachelor's, master's, and doctoral degree programs in a variety of disciplines.

In 2004, Walden became a full part of Laureate Education (the new name for Sylvan Learning Systems) and merged with National Technological University, which allowed Walden to expand its degree offerings and student enrollment even further. These were exciting days, filled with the promises of online education. Thanks to this technological innovation and Walden's eagerness to embrace it, the university was able to carry the Turners' original vision to working professionals all over the world, empowering more people than ever to change their lives, their careers, and their communities.

In the following years, Walden supported the substantial increase in enrollment with an expansion in degree programs, student services, and accreditations. In fact, over the 16 years that followed Walden's full immersion into the Laureate Education network, it obtained an impressive list of accreditations, beginning in 2005 with its reaccreditation by The Higher Learning Commission (HLC).

Since then, Walden has received accreditations for specific degree programs in social work, nursing, counseling, business administration, and public health. In 2021, Walden's Master of Science in Nursing (MSN) program received a 10-year accreditation extension from the Commission on Collegiate Nursing Education (CCNE). Additionally, The Richard W. Riley College of Education and Leadership has received accreditation from the Council for the Accreditation of Educator Preparation (CAEP) and the university was named a National Center of Academic Excellence in Cyber Defense by the National Security Administration and the Department of Homeland Security. Walden was once again reaccredited by the HLC in 2013 for a period lasting 10 years, the maximum any institution can receive.

Clearly, Walden has remained busy, ensuring that its students and the higher education community at large can trust that it maintains the highest possible educational standards. It's a level of trust the Turners always wanted for Walden. And it's a trust that has attracted the attention and praise of several high-profile dignitaries. In 2010, Nelson Mandela accepted an honorary doctorate from Walden; in 2011, former President Bill Clinton spoke at commencement; and in 2014, former Secretary of State Condoleezza Rice spoke at commencement.

While Walden was increasing its educational profile, it was also increasing its focus on social change. In 2006, it initiated its annual Global Days of Service campaign, in which students, alumni, faculty, and staff gather in communities all over the world to complete social improvement projects. In 2017, Walden took its mission even further, founding the Center for Social Change, which serves as a connective hub that promotes, facilitates, and supports social change action and research. It is a valuable resource for members of the Walden community and others throughout the world who want to make a real difference.

From its first 70-person graduating class to this commencement's 6,039-person class, Walden has remained true to its founding principles of expanding access to higher education and working for the greater good. For more than 50 years, Walden's innovation and growth and its student-first philosophy have empowered tens of thousands of working professionals across the U.S. and in over 165 countries.

In 2021, Walden University transitioned from Laureate Education to become part of Adtalem Global Education. Adtalem, like Walden, believes that education empowers students to achieve their goals, find success, and drive positive social change in our global community. Together, Walden and Adtalem will provide the world with diverse graduates who have the talent and skills to answer workforce needs and a passion for advancing positive social change.

In 1970, Bernie and Rita Turner took a bold step and founded Walden University. Without question, the university will continue to be bold long into the future, building on its legacy and continuing to empower the greater good for decades to come.

REGALIA

Academic regalia originated in medieval Europe, where it was the dress for both faculty and students. Standards for academic costumes for colleges and universities in the United States were adopted in 1895. Walden's custom regalia reflects the branding and official colors of the university. The gowns for all degree levels are Celebration Slate with Alumnus Cyan accents.

The gown for the bachelor's degree has pointed sleeves and is untrimmed. It is designed to be worn closed. The length of the hood worn for the bachelor's degree must be 3 feet.

The gown for the master's degree is untrimmed, like the bachelor's degree gown. It has an oblong sleeve, open at the wrist. The sleeve's base hangs down in the traditional manner. The rear part of its oblong shape is square cut, and the front part has an arc cutaway. Supplied with fasteners, the gown may be worn open or closed. The hood for the master's degree is 3.5 feet long.

The gown for the doctoral degree has bell-shaped sleeves. Supplied with fasteners, the gown may be worn open or closed. The gown has velvet on the front and three bars of velvet across the sleeves. The hood worn for the doctoral degree has panels only at the sides and is 4 feet long.

Hoods are lined with the official color or colors of the college or university conferring the degree. Walden University's color is Alumnus Cyan; therefore, each Walden hood has an Alumnus Cyan and Graduation Gold chevron in the middle of the hood. The binding or edging of the hood is velvet or velveteen and 2 inches, 3 inches, and 5 inches wide for the bachelor's, master's, and doctoral degrees, respectively. The color is indicative of the subject to which the degree pertains. For example, the trimming for the degree of Master of Science is golden yellow, representing science. In the case of the Doctor of Philosophy degree, dark blue represents the mastery of the discipline of learning and scholarship in any field and is not intended to represent the field of philosophy.

CEREMONIAL SYMBOLS

CEREMONIAL MACE

It is a tradition of many universities to include a ceremonial mace in their commencement celebrations. The mace, which is typically a long staff of wood and metal, symbolizes the university's governing authority and is present whenever the university president and Board of Directors are in attendance. The history of the mace can be traced to medieval times, when it was used as a weapon held by a royal bodyguard to protect the king. Today, the ceremonial mace can be seen in governmental ceremonies worldwide, including in the U.S. House of Representatives and Britain's House of Commons.

PRESIDENTIAL MEDALLION

The presidential medallion symbolizes the authority given to the president by the Board of Directors to carry out its charge, including first and foremost the preparation of candidates for degrees to be awarded by the board. It is worn by the president at all formal academic occasions. The medallion was created to be a symbolic representation of the university's foundations, with a design that includes the name of the university and its founding date, representing tradition; laurel leaves, representing the knowledge that the university was founded to expand; and a globe, representing Walden's future as the university continues its tradition of innovation in a global community.
