A MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT

The health and well-being of the Walden community is of the utmost importance. To protect our graduates, their families, our alumni, faculty, and staff, we made the very difficult decision to transition from an on-site summer graduation ceremony to a special online celebration honoring our graduates and their milestone achievement. I know this is disappointing for our graduates and the entire Walden community; it is for me, too.

We take our promise of providing Education for Good seriously, and that includes our obligation to be excellent corporate citizens. While we deeply regret having to make this decision regarding graduation, we believe that it is the responsible and right thing to do not only for our graduates, their families, and members of the Walden community, but also for our nation.

This has been a truly challenging year for our country and the world. It has tested our commitment as a university dedicated to a mission of social change. Our extended Walden community has a shared responsibility to stand together in solidarity for racial justice and for the respect of every individual's worth and dignity. We can all make a difference and demonstrate the power of what it means to be part of a university that delivers Education for Good. I hope that you are as proud as I am to call Walden University my university and that you will stay connected to our community through the many opportunities available in our active alumni association.

NIKKI GIOVANNI

Nikki Giovanni is a world-renowned poet, writer, commentator, activist, and educator. Over the past 30 years, her outspokenness in her writing and in lectures has brought the eyes of the world upon her. One of the most widely read American poets, she prides herself on being “a Black American, a daughter, a mother, and a professor of English.”

Giovanni remains as determined and committed as ever to the fight for civil rights and equality. Always insisting on presenting the truth as she sees it, she has maintained a prominent place as a strong voice of the Black community. Her focus is on the individual, specifically on the power one has to make a difference in oneself, and thus, in the lives of others.

Giovanni was born in Knoxville, Tennessee, and grew up in Lincoln Heights, an all-Black suburb of Cincinnati, Ohio. She and her sister spent their summers with their grandparents in Knoxville, and she graduated with honors from Fisk University, her grandfather’s alma mater, in 1968. After graduating from Fisk, she attended the University of Pennsylvania and Columbia University. She published her first book of poetry, Black Feeling Black Talk, in 1968, and within the next year published a second book, thus launching her career as a writer. Early in her career, she was dubbed the “Princess of Black Poetry,” and over the course of more than three decades of publishing and lecturing, she has come to be called both a “national treasure” and one of Oprah Winfrey’s 25 “Living Legends.”

Many of Giovanni’s books have received honors and awards. Her autobiography, Gemini, was a finalist for the National Book Award. Love Poems, Blues: For All the Changes, and Quilting the Black-Eyed Pea were all honored with NAACP Image Awards. Blues: For All the Changes reached No. 4 on the Los Angeles Times best-seller list, a rare achievement for a book of poems. Her children’s picture book Rosa, about the civil rights legend Rosa Parks, became a Caldecott Honor book, and Bryan Collier, the illustrator, was given the Coretta Scott King award for best illustration. Rosa also reached No. 3 on The New York Times best-seller list.

Giovanni’s spoken word recordings have also achieved widespread recognition and honors. Her album Truth Is On Its Way, on which she reads her poetry against a background of gospel music, was a top 100 album and named “Best Spoken Word Album” by the National Association of Radio and Television Announcers. Her Nikki Giovanni Poetry Collection, on which she reads and talks about her poetry, was one of five finalists for a Grammy Award.

Giovanni’s honors and awards have been steady and plentiful throughout her career. The recipient of some 25 honorary degrees, she has been named Woman of the Year by Mademoiselle, Ladies’ Home Journal, and Ebony. She was tapped for the Ohio Women’s Hall of Fame and named an Outstanding Woman of Tennessee. Giovanni has also received governor’s awards from both Tennessee and Virginia. She was the first recipient of the Rosa L. Parks Woman of Courage Award, and she has also been awarded the Langston Hughes Medal for poetry. She is an honorary member of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority and has received Life Membership and Scroll from the National Council of Negro Women. A member of PEN, she was honored for her life and career by The HistoryMakers. She has received the keys to more than two dozen cities. A scientist who admires her work even named a new species of bat he discovered for her.

The author of some 30 books for both adults and children, Giovanni is a University Distinguished Professor at Virginia Tech in Blacksburg, Virginia, and is the recipient of Virginia Tech’s highest honor, the Alumni Outreach Award.

WALDEN HISTORY

“I learned this, at least, by my experiment: that if one advances confidently in the direction of his dreams, and endeavors to live the life which he has imagined, he will meet with a success unexpected in common hours.”

—Henry David Thoreau, Walden (1854)

Fifty years ago, Bernie and Rita Turner took a bold step that would change higher education in America and, ultimately, beyond. At that point in history, if you were a working professional who wanted to earn an advanced degree, most universities required that you quit your job and move close to their campus. The Turners believed that was unreasonable. And so they set out to create a new kind of university that would expand access to higher education and give more people the knowledge they needed to make a positive impact in the world.

The Turners found a like-minded innovator in Dr. Harold “Bud” Hodgkinson, a faculty member at the University of California, Berkeley, who had published a paper that laid out a new vision for a student-centric university. Titled “Walden U: A Working Paper,” Hodgkinson’s vision became the philosophical underpinnings of the Turners’ new school: Walden University.

Founded in 1970, Walden began with a 1971 summer session in Naples, Florida, that gave working teachers and school administrators the opportunity to finish their doctorates without having to leave their jobs or move. It was a truly unique opportunity and, in 1972, the first Walden students earned their degrees.

The Turners’ university was already making a difference. But Walden’s development into the school it is today took time and perseverance. The first major step occurred in 1979, when the Minnesota Higher Education Coordinating Board licensed Walden to grant PhDs and EdDs in the state. An official move to Minneapolis quickly followed in 1982 and, as the decade progressed, Walden grew. In addition to attending the annual summer sessions, students in the 1980s completed coursework by correspondence, receiving and returning assignments through the U.S. mail. In some courses, faculty and students mailed floppy disks back and forth, allowing coursework to be completed on personal computers. While this form of distance learning seems antiquated today, it was innovative in its time and opened new opportunities for working professionals.

This spirit of innovation also impacted the coursework itself. In 1984, Walden officially integrated social change into the curricula for all programs, formalizing the school’s founding mission. In 1987, the university remade its doctoral programs, introducing a new individualized program structure based on the work of renowned American educator Dr. Frederic Hudson. Thanks to these efforts, coupled with the ceaseless drive to offer the highest-quality education, Walden reached the biggest achievement of its early years. In 1990, Walden earned accreditation from The Higher Learning Commission of the North Central Association of Colleges and Schools.

What had begun as a radical idea was now a nationally accredited university. The Turners had realized their dream and, in 1992, they retired, satisfied that Walden was fully established. Of course, a university committed to innovation will always evolve with the times. And that’s exactly what Walden continued to do, even after the Turners left.

Under the leadership of Walden's new owner, Don Ackerman, Walden expanded on the Turners' vision, becoming known for its distance-learning curriculum that emphasized a scholar-practitioner philosophy and a commitment to social change. In 1995, the university became known for something more: It was the first U.S. university to offer an online master's in education degree program. The degree was Walden's first master's and its entrance into online education. This wasn't just the next logical step in distance learning; it was a seismic shift that would quickly end the era of postal-based higher education and usher in a huge number of innovations that would change Walden and higher education throughout the world.

While Walden introduced other online programs in the late 1990s, Sylvan Learning Systems' 2001 investment in the university sparked the biggest change, helping Walden complete the shift from a correspondence system of learning to an online system of learning. At the same time, Walden grew into a comprehensive university offering bachelor's, master's, and doctoral degrees in a variety of disciplines.

In 2004, Walden became a full part of Laureate Education (the new name for Sylvan Learning Systems) and merged with National Technical University, which allowed Walden to expand its degree offerings and student enrollment even further. These were exciting days, filled with the promises of online education. Thanks to this technological innovation and Walden's eagerness to embrace it, the university was able to carry the Turners' original vision to working professionals all over the world, empowering more people than ever to change their lives, their careers, and their communities.

In the following years, Walden supported the substantial increase in enrollment with an expansion in degree programs, student services, and accreditations. In fact, over the 16 years that followed Walden's full immersion into the Laureate Education network, the school obtained an impressive list of accreditations, beginning in 2005 with its reaccreditation by The Higher Learning Commission (HLC).

Since then, Walden has received accreditations for specific degree programs in social work, nursing, counseling, business administration, project management, information technology, and public health. Additionally, it has received accreditation from the Council for the Accreditation of Educator Preparation (CAEP) and was named a National Center of Academic Excellence in Cyber Defense by the National Security Administration. Walden was once again reaccredited by the HLC in 2013 for a period lasting 10 years, the maximum any institution can receive.

Clearly, Walden has remained busy, ensuring that its students and the higher education community at large can trust that the university's education rises to the highest possible standards. It's a level of trust the Turners always wanted for Walden. And it's a trust that has attracted the attention and praise of several high-profile dignitaries. In 2010, Nelson Mandela accepted an honorary doctorate from Walden; in 2011, former President Bill Clinton spoke at commencement; and in 2014, former Secretary of State Condoleezza Rice spoke at commencement.

While Walden was increasing its educational profile, it was also increasing its focus on social change. In 2006, Walden initiated its annual Global Days of Service campaign, in which students, alumni, faculty, and staff gather in communities all over the world to complete social improvement projects. In 2017, Walden took its mission even further, founding the Center for Social Change, which serves as a connective hub that promotes, facilitates, and supports social change action and research. It is a valuable resource for members of the Walden community and others throughout the world who want to make a real difference.

From its first 70-person graduating class to this commencement's 6,339-person class, Walden has remained true to its founding principles of expanding access to higher education and working for the greater good. Walden's 50 years of innovation and growth and its student-first philosophy have empowered tens of thousands of working professionals across the U.S. and in more than 165 countries.

In 1970, Bernie and Rita Turner took a bold step and founded Walden University. Without question, the university will continue to be bold long into the future, building on its legacy and continuing to empower the greater good for decades to come.

REGALIA

Academic regalia originated in medieval Europe, where it was the dress for both faculty and students. Standards for academic costumes for colleges and universities in the United States were adopted in 1895.

The gown for the bachelor's degree has pointed sleeves and is untrimmed. It is designed to be worn closed. The length of the hood worn for the bachelor's degree must be 3 feet.

The gown for the master's degree is untrimmed, like the bachelor's degree gown. It has an oblong sleeve, open at the wrist. The sleeve's base hangs down in the traditional manner. The rear part of its oblong shape is square cut, and the front part has an arc cutaway. Supplied with fasteners, the gown may be worn open or closed. The hood for the master's degree is 3.5 feet long.

The gown for the doctoral degree has bell-shaped sleeves. Supplied with fasteners, the gown may be worn open or closed. The gown has velvet on the front and three bars of velvet across the sleeves. The hood worn for the doctoral degree has panels only at the sides and is 4 feet long.

Hoods are lined with the official color or colors of the college or university conferring the degree. Walden University's color is green; therefore, each Walden hood has green in the middle of the hood. The binding or edging of the hood is velvet or velveteen and 2 inches, 3 inches, and 5 inches wide for the bachelor's, master's, and doctoral degrees, respectively. The color should be indicative of the subject to which the degree pertains. For example, the trimming for the degree of Master of Science is golden yellow, representing science. In the case of the Doctor of Philosophy degree, dark blue represents the mastery of the discipline of learning and scholarship in any field and is not intended to represent the field of philosophy.

CEREMONIAL SYMBOLS

CEREMONIAL MACE

It is a tradition of many universities to include a ceremonial mace in their commencement celebrations. The mace, which is typically a long staff of wood and metal, symbolizes the university's governing authority and is present whenever the university president and Board of Directors are in attendance. The history of the mace can be traced to medieval times, when it was used as a weapon held by a royal bodyguard to protect the king. Today, the ceremonial mace can be seen in governmental ceremonies worldwide, including in the U.S. House of Representatives and Britain's House of Commons. Walden University's mace is carried by the university's grand marshal, who leads the procession at the Graduate Celebration. Selection as a grand marshal is considered an honor and represents the individual's contribution to the university.

PRESIDENTIAL MEDALLION

The presidential medallion symbolizes the authority given to the president by the Board of Directors to carry out its charge, including first and foremost the preparation of candidates for degrees to be awarded by the board. It is worn by the president at all formal academic occasions. The medallion was created to be a symbolic representation of the university's foundations, with a design that includes the name of the university and its founding date, representing tradition; laurel leaves, representing the knowledge that the university was founded to expand; and a globe, representing Walden's future as the university continues its tradition of innovation in a global community.
